

Claims

1. A portable display system comprising:

- a) a support frame comprising a support member and a mounting means for attaching 5 said display system to an operator;
- b) a display device capable of displaying an output message, said display device being disposed on said support member;
- c) a command means for generating an input message from a user;
- d) a media generating means carried by said support frame and in connection with said 10 command means for receiving said input message, said media generating means being capable of generating said output message from said input message, and being in connection with said display device for transmitting said output message to said display device;

15 2. A portable display system substantially as described herein.